

عنوان مقاله:

public -private partnership: governing urban water services in yazd

محل انتشار:

کنفرانس بین المللی آب و فاضلاب با رویکرد خصوصی سازی و الگوهای برتر در طراحی، ساخت و بهره برداری (سال: 1390)

تعداد صفحات اصل مقاله: 7

نویسندگان:

mahdokht soltaniehha - M.Sc department of humen geography school of urban and regional planning stockholm university sweden

bahram aminzadeh goharizi - phd.faculty of urban development and architecture internation university of imam khomeini ,iran

خلاصه مقاله:

The paper is part of an extensive research project about the new tendencies on privatization of water services and supplies in iran focusing on the case of city of yazd which has encountered with drought and water - supply difficulties . Assessing appropriate approaches of contraciting out the public services this article studies potential rational outcomes of privatization in an institutional economic context . although water - related issues are highly influenced by climate chanes there are always various mismanagements of human kind in local scale which totally affects the natural water cycle and wate accessibility. based on interviews and primary documents the paper strives to provide an overview of actors and sectional decisioin - makers on water services to explore the new trends of public - private .partnerships in the city and to find the vulnerabilities and potential risks in this new proposed system

کلمات کلیدی:

public private partnership, water governance , resiliency theory , adaptive management , institutional economies

لینک ثابت مقاله در پایگاه سیویلیکا:

<https://civilica.com/doc/110683>

