The most important methods of Islamic ethic and training which is considered and emphasized in Quran, the Sunnah and religious leader's lifestyle including Imam Ali's (PBUH), is a historical lesson for learning methods. Holy Qur'an in various verses introduces historical lessons for learning methods as one of the leading causes of human resources and invites people by different words and phrases to pause and look at the story of virtuous and guilty people for reflecting and monitoring the fate and destiny of them. Since historical events and accidents are similar actions, lack of attention to their lessons will cause excessive loss. In this essay, and in order to introduce the significance of this matter, it is tried to present this issue and its effect on Islamic ethic and training field by referring to authoritative sources especially Imam Ali's lifestyle and his valuable ideas and recommendations in Nahj-al-balaghah
