خلاصه مقاله:

China, as a emerging world power in the world economic and political hobby, especially in the Eurasian region, has been able to cause sensitivity and concern in the region's traditional superpower, the United States. This policy will be pursued in China during the Biden era in order to further strengthen and politico-military coordination of its allies and partners (mobilization of US allies) against China. The Chinese government is a rival government that commits plagiarism every year. The United States is attacking the economy and has used sophisticated tools as a form of cyber-economic warfare to weaken the US business and economy. The United States has been mentioned as a "strategic competitor". The results of this research can be done for the country's foreign policy apparatus to take an appropriate approach.
