

عنوان مقاله:

Smart diplomacy and Iranian-Islamic and Arab-Islamic identity challenges in the Persian Gulf region

محل انتشار:

یازدهمین کنفرانس بین المللی پژوهش های مدیریت و علوم انسانی در ایران (سال: 1401)

تعداد صفحات اصل مقاله: 27

نویسندگان:

Hossein Moein Abadi Bidgoli - Author of the article, member of the scientific faculty and professor of Shahid Bahonar University of Kerman

. Farnaz AliFarsangi - Bachelor of political science student, Shahid Bahonar University of Kerman

Mohammad Hesam Gavari - Master's degree in Diplomacy and International Organizations. Shahid Bahonar University of Kerman

خلاصه مقاله:

Smart diplomacy means the correct and intelligent use of the government and its executive agents, especially the diplomatic apparatus and its executives, which include politicians and diplomats, of all the material and spiritual, hard and soft, mental and objective capacities available inside the country and abroad. They use it to facilitate the achievement of goals and maintain and expand interests, especially national interests. In general, smart diplomacy is durable and effective for a long time in solving challenges and crises between governments. Identity diversity in the Persian Gulf region has always faced challenges and crises related to Iranian-Islamic and Arab-Islamic identity conflicts in recent years. Challenges that are caused by regional and trans-regional factors, and each of them has faced crises and conflicts in political, economic, cultural and social relations. This research tries to investigate the role of smart diplomacy in solving the Iranian-Islamic and Arab-Islamic identity crisis in order to provide a solution to solve the aforementioned crises by identifying the factors causing the crisis and using the capabilities of smart diplomacy in this region.

کلمات کلیدی:

.Persian Gulf, smart diplomacy, identity, Persian Gulf

لینک ثابت مقاله در پایگاه سیویلیکا:

<https://civilica.com/doc/1673224>

