

عنوان مقاله:

The structures in lipstick and their effects on the human body

محل انتشار:

دومین کنفرانس بین المللی دانشجویان علوم پایه ایران (سال: 1402)

تعداد صفحات اصل مقاله: 5

نویسنده:

Mohammad Asli – Continuous undergraduate student of Chemistry Education, Farhangian University of East Azarbaijan, Allameh Amini Campus, Tabriz, Iran

خلاصه مقاله:

In the following review article, which was written using reliable websites and sources on the Internet, our goal is to investigate the organic substances in the lipsticks used in the market and their effects on human health. Nowadays, due to the importance of finding beauty and its effects on a person's relationship with others, the importance of using cosmetics is also revealed. Among these materials, lipstick can be mentioned, which can be found in almost every home today. This material, like other industrial products, is made of various natural and synthetic materials, including pigments, waxes, oils, fragrances, etc. Cited. Each of these substances has different effects on the human body, which may be good or bad

کلمات کلیدی:

Lipsticks, cosmetics, pigments, waxes

لینک ثابت مقاله در پایگاه سیویلیکا:

<https://civilica.com/doc/1943234>

