

عنوان مقاله:

Effects and Outcomes Strategic assessment of climate change on urban regions Environment in developing country

محل انتشار:

سومین کنفرانس بین المللی رویکردهای نوین در نگهداشت انرژی (سال: 1392)

تعداد صفحات اصل مقاله: 16

نویسندگان:

Zohrab Adavi - Ph.D. student in Agricultural Engineering, SHahrekord University and A board member of Fereidoonshahr University of Payamnoor

,Ali jovzi khameslouei - Ph.D. student in geography and urban planning, Isfahan University

Mahmoud Reza Tadayoun - Associate Professor in Agricultural Engineering, SHahrekord University

خلاصه مقاله:

In recent decades, strategic assessment and evolution of Effects and implications, results and cope with climate change in ecosystems especially urban regions take in to consideration of academic of developing country. Therefore, the application of management strategies and mechanisms to deal with the impact of this phenomenon in the urban regions of basic necessities in this field. Although national and regional conferences on the topic has attracted administrators and planners to the phenomenon and its consequences, But at the conference, Strategies for the management and planning of this phenomenon has not been significant. Approaches to conservation projects, urban planning to deal with greenhouse gas emissions, industrial and proper selection of strategies to combat air pollution in urban regions. Approaches to conservation projects, urban planning to deal with greenhouse gas emissions, industrial and proper selection of strategies to combat air pollution in urban regions is important macro strategies that can be implemented within the framework of the implementation plans reduce the negative impacts of climate change on urban environments.

کلمات کلیدی:

strategy, Outcomes, climate change, Environment, urban regions

لینک ثابت مقاله در پایگاه سیویلیکا:

<https://civilica.com/doc/305287>

