

عنوان مقاله:

Futures studies of risks and crisis management, by looking at the global insurance industry

محل انتشار:

کنفرانس بین المللی پژوهشهای نوین در مدیریت، اقتصاد و حسابداری (سال: 1394)

تعداد صفحات اصل مقاله: 18

نویسندگان:

Ebrahim kardghar - Affiliation: CEO of Asia insurance co

Mahmoud sabzi - Affiliation: Manager of R&D in Asia insurance co

Aydin rashidi - Affiliation: MSc in liability insurance of Asia insurance

خلاصه مقاله:

The futures studies of risks and crisis, is a systematic attempt to look at the future in the field of risk management and crisis, which aims identifying normal or abnormal potential threats, forecasting the types and methods of creating crisis caused by them, emerging technologies used in forecasting the risks and crises and using for proper and efficient management of resources for future's crises. In fact, the futures studies of risks and crisis, means preparing for the future crisis and applying available resources in the best way possible and in accordance with the values. Future studies can impress the risk and crisis management policies. It is interesting that many scientific and technical human achievements have been turned to critical factors in terms of the unpredictability of consequences and complications. These crises could jeopardize the internal and external interests of communities. The insurance industry is one of the security pillars of every country, especially in the social department. Insurance is an instrument for crisis management and compensation for incidents caused by natural disasters. According to the variety of risks and incidents natural disasters around the world, entered very considerable damage to the productive and industrial departments and infrastructures of countries that the managers should do the necessary forecasts to deal with risk and to reduce probable losses by identify the risks and threatening factors. Most of the anomalies in the communities are due lacking of security instruments. Insurance can play a role as an important instrument in crisis management. Futures studies and planning are the infrastructure of risks and crises strategic management in the insurance industry, which will be discussed in this article

کلمات کلیدی:

Futures studies, risks and crises management, insurance industry

لینک ثابت مقاله در پایگاه سیویلیکا:

<https://civilica.com/doc/437181>

