خلاصه مقاله:

In the midst of all the nouns, pronouns determiner is often left by the wayside, untaught or taught incorrectly modifier which provides context to a noun. and include articles, demonstratives descriptive-analytical account of English and in Persian is limited to talking (I) Persian application of the articles didn't show full compatibility in two languages e about something known or obvious to the listener. this case, using the definite article is optional moved and placed either at the end of the noun or the adjective English. In Persian, the lack of an article indicates that the noun is defined demonstratives before a noun results in definiteness. Iranian EFL students will drop the determiner 'the' in many .English noun phrases since Persian using a definite article is rare and is limited optional too
