خلاصه مقاله:

The house of Moayed is in the Zafreh which is a village in central district of Falavarjancounty. This valuable house have been far from the historical studies and there is no properphysical recognition of that. At first with the aim of introducing this monument, thegeographical location have explained and the physical features of the house described. Thenby using the historical-comparative method and by comparing the features of this house withQajar's houses which are in the Isfahan state, the historical period of building and the nextextensions determined. The method of gaining information is fieldwork and library and alsointerviewing with experts. Finally it is concluded that the Zafreh's house is formed in twohistorical period of time; some parts formed in the initial period of the Qajar and other partshave .built in the second period of Qajar and the other parts are built in the period of Zill alsultanreign
