Geography in terms of great Greek scientist aratosten in the 2300 years ago the study of the Earth as the place of human beings has been describing. Geography in the study of natural and human factors of the land deal has the use of its resources to the human species in the type of vegetation, mashit, housing benefit, network of land, associated areas together and ... The interference. The concept of geography: the human relationship with the environment in human beings, activities and role plays offer several clinics and the environment, including the natural environment, human and social. By knowing the geography of the environment and efficient use of power and capacity as in the dream, lakes, wetlands, waterfalls, forest, agricultural fields, mountains, pilgrimage centers, ancient and cultural development, and increase revenue by attracting tourists tried. Environment as the main pillar of tourism in the crystallization space plays an important role in attracting tourists and the various instruments at the disposal of the print. Based tourism models included the words natural environment, the built environment and building human infrastructure, technology, management system of geographical units which are all-time geographic tourism gives more strength. In General, we should place emphasis on the concept of geographical environment in the presence of the community and shall be natural or characteristic of the society a place apart. Any geographical perspective, coordination and spatial conditions of the human being with a consistent appearance. Since the geographical areas, each has its own characteristics, merges natural and cultural attractions to follow them can form. And for this reason the scope of activities of the tourists is also varied
